House Bill 1197
Judiciary

(Delegate Rose, et al.)

Criminal Procedure - Pretrial Release - Assault on a Law Enforcement Officer (Police Protection Act)

This bill prohibits a District Court commissioner from authorizing the pretrial release of a defendant charged with assault in the first degree against a victim who is a law enforcement officer or felony second-degree assault against a victim who is a law enforcement officer. When such a defendant is presented to a judge under the Maryland Rules, a judge may order the pretrial release of such a defendant on suitable bail, any other conditions that will reasonably ensure that the defendant will not flee or pose a danger to another person or the community, or both bail and other such conditions. However, a judge must order the continued detention of such a defendant if neither bail nor any other conditions will reasonably ensure that the defendant will not be a flight risk or pose a danger to another person or the community. There is a rebuttable presumption that such a defendant will flee and pose a danger to another person or the community.

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: Potential minimal increase in general fund expenditures if the bill increases pretrial detention times in Baltimore City. The Judiciary and the Office of the Public Defender can address any potential increases in judicial bail review hearings with existing budgeted resources. Revenues are not affected.

Local Effect: Potential minimal increase in local expenditures for pretrial detentions. Local revenues are not affected.

Small Business Effect: None.

Analysis

Current Law: In most cases, pretrial release determinations are made at a defendant's initial appearance before a District Court commissioner. A commissioner may not, however, authorize the release of certain defendants. Pretrial release of such defendants may be authorized only by a judge, and only on suitable bail, on any other conditions that will reasonably ensure that the defendant will not flee or pose a danger to others, or on both bail and such other conditions. Please see the Appendix – Defendants Ineligible for Pretrial Release by a District Court Commissioner for a comprehensive list of defendants ineligible for pretrial release by a District Court commissioner.

A defendant who is denied pretrial release by a District Court commissioner or who for any reason remains in custody after a District Court commissioner has determined conditions of release under the Maryland Rules must be presented to a District Court judge immediately if the court is in session or, if the court is not in session, at the next session of the court.

Assault

A person may not commit an assault. However, the consequences of an assault vary depending on the circumstances involved.

First-degree Assault: A person commits a first-degree assault if he/she (1) intentionally causes or attempts to cause serious physical injury to another person or (2) commits an assault with a firearm, including a handgun, assault pistol, machine gun, or other specified firearms. A person who commits a first-degree assault is guilty of a felony and subject to imprisonment for up to 25 years.

Felony Second-degree Assault: A person commits a felony second-degree assault if he/she intentionally causes "physical injury" to another if the person knows or has reason to know that the other person is a (1) law enforcement officer or parole or probation agent engaged in the performance of the officer/agent's official duties or (2) a firefighter, an emergency medical technician, a rescue squad member, or any other first responder engaged in providing emergency medical care or rescue services. "Physical injury" means any impairment of physical condition, excluding minor injuries. Violators are subject to imprisonment for up to 10 years and/or a maximum fine of $5,000.

Misdemeanor Second-degree Assault: The misdemeanor second-degree assault statute applies to assaults that are not considered to be felony assaults in the first or second degrees. Under the misdemeanor second-degree assault statute, a person is prohibited from committing an assault. A violator is subject to imprisonment for up to 10 years and/or a maximum fine of $2,500. Assault means the crimes of assault, battery, and assault and battery, which are defined through case law.

The District Court has concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit courts over felony second-degree assaults.

Background: According to the Judiciary, during fiscal 2019, there were:

- 7,526 violations in the District Court and 4,371 violations in the circuit courts of § 3-202 of the Criminal Law Article (first-degree assault); and
- 652 violations in the District Court and 209 violations in the circuit courts of violations of § 3-203(c)(2) of the Criminal Law Article (felony second-degree assault against a law enforcement officer, parole agent, probation agent, firefighter, emergency medical technician, rescue squad member, or first responder).

Data is not available on the number of cases listed above that involved a victim who was a law enforcement officer at the time the offense was committed. A violation is a charge filed with the court. It is not a conviction, and one person may be associated with multiple violations.

Additional Information

Prior Introductions: HB 1128 of 2018 received an unfavorable report from the House Judiciary Committee. Its cross file, SB 736, received a hearing in the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee, but no further action was taken.

Designated Cross File: None.
