6 (3) (i) Any action to recover damages under this section may be brought 7 by suit separate from the eviction or removal proceeding or in the same action and in any 8 court having jurisdiction over the amount in issue.

9 (ii) The court may also give judgment in favor of the landlord for the 10 damages determined to be due together with costs of the suit if the court finds that the 11 residential tenant was personally served with a summons, or, in the case of a nonresidential 12 tenancy, there was such service of process or submission to the jurisdiction of the court as 13 would support a judgment in contract or tort.

14 (iii) A nonresidential tenant who was not personally served with a 15 summons shall not be subject to personal jurisdiction of the court if that tenant asserts that 16 the appearance is for the purpose of defending an in rem action prior to the time that

18 (4) Nothing contained herein is intended to limit any other remedies which 19 a landlord may have against a holdover tenant under the lease or under applicable law.

20 (b) (1) (i) Where any tenancy is for any definite term or at will, and the 21 landlord shall desire to repossess the property after the expiration of the term for which it 22 was leased and shall give notice [in writing one month before the expiration of the term or

26 to comply, the landlord may make complaint in writing to the District Court of the county 27 where the property is located.

28 (ii) 1. The court shall issue a summons directed to any constable

34 tenant, assignee, or subtenant.

35 3. If, for any reason those persons cannot be found, the 36 constable or sheriff shall affix an attested copy of the summons conspicuously on the

1 4. After notice to the tenant, assignee, or subtenant by 12 or person in possession and that the tenant or person in possession had refused so to do,

13 the court shall thereupon give judgment for the restitution of the possession of said 14 premises and shall forthwith issue its warrant to the sheriff or a constable in the respective 15 counties commanding the tenant or person in possession forthwith to deliver to the landlord
16 possession thereof in as full and ample manner as the landlord was possessed of the same 17 at the time when the tenancy was made, and shall give judgment for costs against the 18 tenant or person in possession so holding over.

19 (ii) Either party shall have the right to appeal therefrom to the 20 circuit court for the county within ~~ten~~ 10 days from the judgment.

21 (iii) If the tenant appeals and files with the District Court an affidavit

24 truly pay all rent in arrears and all costs in the case before the District Court and in the 25 appellate court and all loss or damage which the landlord may suffer by reason of the 26 tenant's holding over, including the value of the premises during the time the tenant shall 27 so hold over, then the tenant or person in possession of said premises may retain possession 28 thereof until the determination of said appeal.

29 (iv) The appellate court shall, upon application of either party, set a 30 day for the hearing of the appeal, not less than ~~five~~ 5 nor more than 15 days after the 31 application, and notice for the order for a hearing shall be served on the opposite party or

34 landlord, a warrant shall be issued by the appellate court to the sheriff, who shall proceed 35 forthwith to execute the warrant.

36 [(3) (i) The provisions of this subsection shall apply to all cases of 37 tenancies at the expiration of a stated term, tenancies from year to year, and tenancies of
