Analysis

Bill Summary: A person may not leave a dog outside and unattended for longer than 30 minutes without access to continuous (1) suitable shelter during extreme weather conditions and (2) suitable shelter or suitable shade when temperatures are above 90 degrees Fahrenheit. Violators are guilty of a civil offense punishable by a warning for a first violation, a civil penalty of up to $500 for a second violation, and a civil penalty of up to $1,000 for a third or subsequent violation. The prohibition does not apply if the dog is lawfully and actively engaged in (1) hunting; (2) livestock herding or guarding; (3) sledding; (4) sporting; or (5) training.

“Extreme weather conditions” means temperatures below 32 degrees Fahrenheit or conditions during an active winter or cold weather warning or advisory issued by the National Weather Service.

“Suitable shelter” means a structure that (1) is properly ventilated; (2) has a solid floor that allows the dog to remain reasonably dry; (3) has a weatherproof roof; (4) is enclosed with an entrance on one side; (5) allows a dog to maintain its normal body temperature; and (6) is suitable for the species, age, condition, size, and type of dog.

“Suitable shade” means an area completely protected from the direct sun that is accessible and fully covers a dog.

“Sporting” means any athletic competition, skill competition, obedience competition, or other competition intended for the participation of dogs.

The bill establishes that the bill’s prohibition, and an existing prohibition (discussed below) against leaving a dog outside and unattended by use of specified types of restraints, do not prohibit a local government from adopting a requirement for the health and safety of dogs that is more stringent than those prohibitions.

Current Law: A person may not leave a dog outside and unattended by use of a restraint (1) that unreasonably limits the movement of the dog; (2) that uses a collar that is made primarily of metal or is not at least as large as the circumference of the dog’s neck plus one inch; (3) that restricts the access of the dog to suitable and sufficient clean water or appropriate shelter; (4) in unsafe or unsanitary conditions; or (5) that causes injury to the dog. “Restraint” and “collar” are statutorily defined terms. In addition, a person who has charge or custody of an animal, as owner or otherwise, may not unnecessarily fail to provide the animal with, among other things, proper shelter or proper protection from the weather.

A violation of these existing prohibitions is a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for up to 90 days and/or a $1,000 maximum fine.
