Analysis

Current Law: SDAT must notify homeowners of the possibility of receiving the homestead property tax credit.

Title 6, Subtitle 8, of the Environment Article was enacted to reduce the incidence of lead poisoning while maintaining affordable rental housing. Currently, compliance is mandatory for rental dwelling units built prior to 1978, regardless of renovation history.

Owners must register all rental dwelling units within 30 days of acquisition and must renew their registration by December 31 annually. Owners must also provide all tenants with two brochures regarding tenants' rights and protecting individuals from lead poisoning and a copy of the current inspection certification upon inception of the tenancy and every two years thereafter. Affected properties must also pass an inspection for lead contaminated dust, performed by a Maryland Department of the Environment accredited inspection contractor, prior to every change in occupancy. Finally, the owner of an affected property must comply with a modified risk reduction standard upon certain triggering events.

Additional Information

Prior Introductions: HB 348 of 2021, a similar bill, received a hearing in the House Ways and Means Committee, but no further action was taken.
