Analysis

Bill Summary: “Constitutional officer” means the current or a former (1) Governor or Lieutenant Governor; (2) Attorney General; (3) Comptroller; or (4) State Treasurer. “Disclosed” means posted publicly on the Internet or made publicly available through any other means of publication or posting. “Immediate family member” means a parent, spouse, or child. “Personal information” means a home address or personal telephone number.

A constitutional officer or an immediate family member of a constitutional officer whose personal information has been disclosed may request in writing that the person who disclosed the personal information (1) remove the personal information from the forum on which it was disclosed and (2) refrain from any future disclosure of personal information of the constitutional officer or immediate family member of the constitutional officer. The request may be made on behalf of a minor by a parent or guardian of the minor.

On receipt of a written request, the person who made the disclosure (1) must remove the personal information within 72 hours of receiving the request and (2) may not disclose the personal information of the constitutional officer or the immediate family member of the constitutional officer by any other means.

The bill also requires a custodian under the Maryland Public Information Act (PIA) to deny inspection of the part of a public record that contains the home address or personal telephone number of a “constitutional officer” unless the constitutional officer consents to the inspection.

Current Law:

Maryland’s Public Information Act

PIA establishes that all persons are entitled to have access to information about the affairs of government and the official acts of public officials and employees. Each governmental unit that maintains public records must identify a representative whom a member of the public may contact to request a public record. The Office of the Attorney General (OAG) must post all such contact information on its website and in any Public Information Act Manual published by OAG.

Under PIA, “public record” means the original (or any copy) of any documentary material that (1) is made by a unit or an instrumentality of the State or of a political subdivision or received by the unit or instrumentality in connection with the transaction of public business and (2) is in any form, as further specified.

Duties of Custodians

Generally, a custodian of a public record must permit inspection of any public record at any reasonable time. A custodian must designate types of public records that are to be made available to any applicant immediately on request and maintain a current list of the types of public records that have been so designated. Each custodian must adopt reasonable rules or regulations that, consistent with PIA, govern timely production and inspection of a public record. Chapter 658 of 2021, effective July 1, 2022, requires each official custodian to adopt a policy of proactive disclosure of public records that are available for inspection under PIA, as specified.

Required Denials: A custodian must deny inspection of a public record or any part of a public record if (1) the public record is privileged or confidential by law or (2) the inspection would be contrary to a State statute, a federal statute or regulation, the Maryland Rules, or an order of a court of record. PIA also requires denial of inspection for specified personal and confidential records and information, including, for example, personnel and student records, hospital records, specified medical and financial information, and shielded criminal and police records. In general, PIA requires denial of inspection for the part of a public record that contains the home address, personal telephone number, or personal email address of an employee of a unit of an instrumentality of the State or of a political subdivision unless (1) the employee gives permission for the inspection or (2) the unit or instrumentality that employs the individual determines that inspection is needed to protect the public interest.

Discretionary Denials: Unless otherwise specified, if a custodian believes that inspection of a part of a public record by an applicant would be contrary to the public interest, the custodian may deny inspection to the applicant of that part of the record. PIA specifies the types of records and information that are eligible for discretionary denials, including documents that would not be available through discovery in a lawsuit.

Procedure for Denial: A custodian who denies inspection of a public record must, within 10 working days, provide a written statement to the applicant that gives (1) the reason for denial; (2) if denying a part of a record on a discretionary basis, a brief explanation of why the denial is necessary and why redacting information would not address the reasons for the denial; (3) the legal authority for the denial; (4) a brief description of the undisclosed record (without disclosing the protected information); and (5) notice of the available statutory remedies.

Miscellaneous

Under § 1-114 of the General Provisions Article, a “person” includes an individual, receiver, trustee, guardian, personal representative, fiduciary, representative of any kind, corporation, partnership, business trust, statutory trust, limited liability company, firm, association, or other nongovernmental entity.
