

My name is amber noll I live in Harford co Maryland with 4 special needs children I feel parents have the best interest at heart when raising their children not the government It isn't up to anyone else it is up to the parents . Especially with my special needs children what's best for others isn't best for us. Children can't make sound judgment on care for themselves or there future that is on the parents the government has no say In It either. It's an overstep and it needs to stop. The welfare and care is fine in a loving safe home.
