Testimony of FreeState Justice
IN SUPPORT OF
HB122: Criminal Procedure – Expungement of Records – Expansion

To the Honorable Chair Luke Clippinger, Vice Chair David Moon, and esteemed members of the Judiciary Committee:

FreeState Justice is Maryland’s lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer (LGBTQ) civil rights advocacy organization. Each year, we provide free legal services to dozens, if not hundreds, of LGBTQ+ Marylanders who could not otherwise be able to afford an attorney, as well as advocate more broadly on behalf of the LGBTQ+ community.

We write today in support of House Bill 122, which builds on the expungement reform law passed by the General Assembly last year by clarifying that automatic expungement applies to all charges disposed of on or after October 1, 2018 (rather than the ambiguous “beginning October 1, 2021” language currently in the Code) and by expanding its coverage to include charges with dispositions of Probation Before Judgment or Stet, where all court-ordered conditions have been satisfied.

Expungements make up a significant part of FreeState Justice’s legal work on behalf of LGBTQ Marylanders. LGBTQ individuals are overrepresented in all stages of the criminal justice system, from arrest through incarceration, with rates especially high for transgender women of color, who are frequently targeted by police for simply existing in public spaces.

The situation is particularly dire for LGBTQ individuals experiencing housing instability or homelessness. Police routinely charge unhoused individuals with nuisance crimes in order to control where and how they exist in public spaces. While the vast majority of these charges are ultimately dismissed or not prosecuted, they can remain on an individual's record, creating long-term harm to their ability to find employment or a place to live.

With LGBTQ (especially transgender) individuals more likely to face housing instability because of family and societal hostility, expungement of these charges—charges that were never prosecuted or for which the individual has never been convicted—becomes an issue of fundamental equality. LGBTQ Marylanders—especially those with low incomes—should not face the burden of maneuvering through the complicated questions of which offenses are expungable, when the state is more than capable of making that assessment quickly and routinely on its own initiative.

For these reasons, FreeState Justice urges a favorable report on House Bill 122.
